Vision: Shaping the future pupil teachers to shoulder the responsibility of shaping the future youth of the nation

Introduction:

Humera Khan College of Education celebrated Children's Day with great enthusiasm and excitement, creating a vibrant and joyful atmosphere on campus. The event was organized under the guidance of Assistant Professor Shenaz Khan, the event in-charge, and was graced by the presence of IC Principal Dr. Varsha Maru, who actively encouraged students and faculty throughout the celebration. Faculty members including Dr. Sandhya Sarwade, Dr. Avani Kanakia, and Vinayak Sir played a significant role in coordinating and supporting the event.

The celebration was designed not only to honour the importance of children and recognize their rights but also to provide an opportunity for students to actively participate in cultural and educational activities. It aimed to instill a sense of joy, creativity, and camaraderie among students while highlighting the values and teachings of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, whose love and care for children are commemorated on this day. The event successfully brought together students, faculty, and staff in a spirit of unity, learning, and celebration, making it a memorable occasion for everyone present.

Objectives of the Event:

- To commemorate Children's Day and honour the legacy of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, who deeply cared for children.
- To provide a platform for children and students to engage in fun, educational, and creative activities.
- To encourage a sense of joy, unity, and community among students and faculty.
- To highlight the importance of children in society and emphasize their overall development.

Significance of the Event:

Children's Day holds a special place in our hearts as it is dedicated to recognizing and celebrating the rights, care, and education of children. This day is significant not only as a tribute to Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the first Prime Minister of India, who deeply valued children's happiness and development, but also as a reminder for society to nurture and support the younger generation.

Celebrating Children's Day in an educational institution like Humera Khan College of Education provides students with an opportunity to reflect on the importance of children's well-being, creativity, and holistic development. It encourages values such as empathy, responsibility, and social awareness among students while fostering a joyful and inclusive environment. The event also helps in strengthening the bond between students and faculty, promotes teamwork and active participation, and creates memorable experiences that emphasize the crucial role children play in shaping the future of our society.

Content of the Event:

The event began with the university song, invoking a sense of pride and unity. This was followed by a prayer, creating a peaceful and respectful atmosphere for the celebration. A speech highlighting the significance of Children's Day was delivered, inspiring all attendees. An activity session was organized, allowing students to participate actively. The event also featured a video presentation, explaining why Children's Day is so special and its historical background. Following this, two fun activities were conducted, engaging students in interactive and enjoyable learning experiences.

The celebration was made even more special by the enthusiastic presence of all F.Y.B.Ed faculty and S.Y.B.Ed students, whose participation added energy and vibrancy to the event. The celebration concluded with a speech by Principal Dr. Varsha Maru, emphasizing the importance of children in society. She also provided small feedback on the event, appreciating the efforts of students and faculty. The event formally ended with the National Anthem.

Learning Outcomes:

The Children's Day celebration at Humera Khan College of Education provided students with a meaningful and engaging learning experience. Through participation in speeches, activities, and interactive sessions, students gained a deeper understanding of the historical, cultural, and social significance of Children's Day, along with the vision and values promoted by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, who always emphasized the happiness, education, and well-being of children.

The event helped students enhance essential skills such as teamwork, communication, leadership, creativity, and problem-solving, while encouraging collaboration, empathy, and mutual respect among peers. By observing and actively participating, students reflected on the importance of children's rights, education, and holistic development, and became more aware of their role in fostering a supportive and inclusive environment.

Overall, the celebration nurtured holistic learning, moral and social development, and a sense of responsibility towards children, leaving students with memorable experiences, stronger interpersonal skills, and a deeper appreciation of the vital role children play in shaping a better and progressive society.
