Report on Workshop on Climate Change and Our Responsibility

Humera Khan College of Education, under the Environment Cell and DLLE, organized a workshop on “Climate Change and Our Responsibility” on 28th February 2026 at 2:00 PM onwards in online and offline mode. The session was conducted by the esteemed resource person, Dr. Avani Kanakia.

The workshop aimed to create awareness among pupil teachers about the urgent issue of climate change and the role individuals play in protecting the environment. Dr. Kanakia explained the causes and effects of climate change in a simple and practical manner. She emphasized how small daily actions, such as reducing plastic use, conserving water, saving electricity, and adopting eco-friendly habits, can bring significant positive changes to our planet.

The theme “Small Changes, Big Impact” was highlighted throughout the session. The resource person encouraged participants to understand that every choice matters — whether it is what we consume, carry, or conserve. She also discussed the responsibility of teachers in shaping environmentally conscious future generations. The session was interactive and thought-provoking. Participants actively engaged in discussions about sustainable living practices and shared ideas on how educational institutions can contribute to environmental protection. The workshop concluded on a motivational note, inspiring everyone to take responsibility and act for a greener future.

❖ Objectives

- To create awareness about climate change and its impact on the environment.

- To understand individual and collective responsibility towards sustainability.
- To encourage eco-friendly habits among future educators.

❖ Significance

Climate change is one of the most pressing global challenges today. Educators play a vital role in shaping the attitudes and behaviors of future generations. This workshop helped pupil teachers understand their responsibility not only as individuals but also as future educators who can guide students towards sustainable living and environmental conservation.

The workshop concluded with the message “Small Changes, Big Impact”, motivating everyone to adopt ecofriendly habits in daily life.

❖ Learning Outcomes

The workshop enabled participants to:

- Gain a clear understanding of climate change and its consequences.
- Develop awareness about sustainable practices in daily life.
- Recognize the importance of environmental responsibility as future teachers.
- Feel motivated to implement eco-friendly initiatives in their personal and professional

❖ Conclusion

The workshop on Climate Change and Our Responsibility was highly informative and meaningful. It created awareness about the urgent issue of climate change and highlighted how human activities contribute to environmental degradation. The explanation of causes and effects, along with the interactive activity, helped students understand the seriousness of the situation in a practical way.
